DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Newly submitted claims 9-15 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons:

Inventions I (claims 1-7) and II (claims 9-15) are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product, and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.05(j)). In the instant case, the intermediate product is deemed to be useful as a bridge / short-circuit element; and the inventions are deemed patentably distinct because there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 9-15 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pernet (US 5,860,821).

Pernet discloses a switching terminal comprising: a carrier strip (2); a first terminal (5) extending from an edge of the carrier strip; and a second terminal (4) extending from the edge of the carrier strip, being substantially parallel to the first terminal and having a cutout defined in an edge (in right edge). Regarding the recitation "to absorb distortion", please note that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. See further discussion in section Response to Arguments.

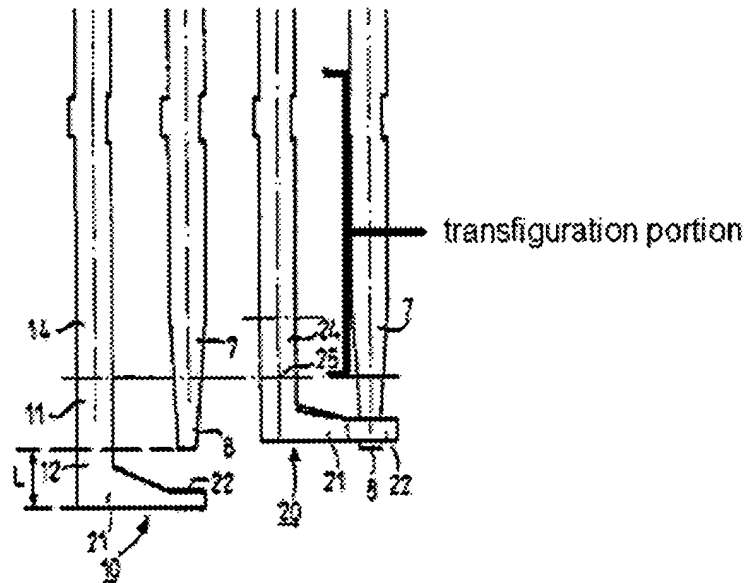

Regarding claim 2, Pernet discloses the first terminal comprises a first retaining portion connecting with the carrier strip, a first contact section (22) and a first base section (between the retaining portion and the contact section) connecting the first contact section with the first retaining portion.

Regarding claim 3, Pernet discloses the second terminal comprises a second retaining portion connecting with the carrier strip, a second contact section (free end) and a second base section (between the retaining portion and the contact section) connecting the second contact section with the second retaining portion.

Regarding claim 4, Pernet discloses the second base section comprises a transfiguration portion (part at 24, see following figure), a pressing portion (near 22) and an angled portion (at 21) interconnecting the transfiguration portion and the pressing portion.

Regarding claim 5, Pernet discloses the cut out being defined in the transfiguration portion (see previous figure).

Regarding claim 6, Pernet discloses the transfiguration portion being deflected outwardly (left in Fig.2b-1) for the position of the cut out.

Regarding claim 7, Pernet discloses a plurality of terminals connected with the carrier strip and parallel to the first terminal.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 02/28/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that Pernet does not disclose "a cutout to absorb distortion", please note that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In this case, the cut out of Pernet can absorb distortion if the terminal is bent at the cutout section.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
